Where Relationships Become Family: The Calling, Values, and Commitments of an EA Ambassador

Our Heart & Mission

For more than twenty-five years, El Ayudante has been about far more than buildings, programs, or projects. It has always been about people. Children who need hope. Families who need encouragement. Volunteers who become lifelong advocates. Strangers who become family.

The goal of an ambassador is not simply to introduce people to El Ayudante. The goal is to introduce people to relationships that change lives.

The El Ayudante Way

Everything we do begins with one simple conviction: Relationships change lives.

- We pray with people before asking them to give.
- We learn children's names before learning their needs.
- We listen before we speak and build trust before asking for commitment.
- We value lifelong relationships over one-time transactions.
- Financial generosity is essential, but generosity is never the destination—relationships are.

Who Is an EA Ambassador?

Ambassadors are not defined by how much money they raise. They are known by how faithfully they love people. They are Storytellers, Connectors, Encouragers, Prayer Warriors, Advocates, and Servant Leaders. Above all, they faithfully represent Jesus Christ.

The Ambassador Commitment

- Pray Faithfully: Lift up our children, families, sponsors, staff, and mission teams consistently.
- Love Well: Send handwritten birthday cards, record video messages, welcome new sponsors, and support sponsor video calls.
- Tell the Story: Share naturally through church groups, community circles, social media, and everyday conversations. Authenticity matters more than polished presentations.
- Invite Others: Invite friends and churches into child sponsorship, mission team trips, and prayer partnership.
- Stay Connected: Participate in seasonal ambassador video gatherings, updates, and fellowship.

The Ambassador Covenant

"As an El Ayudante Ambassador, I commit to representing Jesus Christ and El Ayudante with humility, integrity, and love. I will pray faithfully. I will intentionally build relationships. I will encourage children, sponsors, volunteers, and fellow ambassadors. I will tell stories with honesty. I will invite others into God's work in Nicaragua. I understand that my role is not simply to raise support; my calling is to help people discover relationships that reflect the love of Christ and, over time, become family."
